The Department of Foods and Nutrition at Purdue University is seeking applicants for a tenure-track faculty position (10-month) at the assistant, associate or full professor level. Expectations of the applicant will include establishment of an independent research program related to Bone Health, Botanicals, Energy Balance or Cancer Prevention (the Department signature areas) and development/ supervision of statewide outreach activities related to one or more of these areas.

Qualifications desired are a record of scholarly activity as evidenced by publications and successful grantsmanship; demonstrated excellence in communication skills in community-based programs; and an interest in helping to facilitate the greater mission of a Land Grant institution.

Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Initial screening of applications will begin December 1, 2003, and continue until a successful applicant is identified. The application, including 1) a description of current and planned scholarly activities and involvement in university outreach programs; 2) a curriculum vitae; and the names, addresses, email and telephone numbers of three persons willing to serve as references, should be mailed to:
